Abstract

“Enterprise Assessment Tool for Entrepreneurs (E8) – Supporting the entrepreneurial journey”

24th of June
From 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. CEST

Dr Paul Quantock
Chairman
The Foundation for Entrepreneurial Participation (TFEP)
United Kingdom

Micro and small businesses are considered as vital engines for growth and job creation and play a crucial role in reaching the objectives of the economic development strategies of numerous countries.

As part of the ongoing development of our eco-system for entrepreneurs TFEP has developed an Enterprise Assessment Tool for Entrepreneurs (E8) that enables budding and existing entrepreneurs around the world to test their competencies and determine their “entrepreneurial skill level deficit”, and evaluate any further training they may require. Entrepreneurs also have access to a continually evolving database of training course providers that offer a range of courses (including classroom and e-learning) that will help meet any "competency deficits" identified.

“.. This is a unique initiative that will support entrepreneurs on their "entrepreneurial journey" to ensure they have the right skills for success and growth ..“ says Dr Paul Quantock, Chairman of The Foundation for Entrepreneurial Participation

This self-assessment tool is an important element in the development of entrepreneurial education as it will determine the existing skill level of budding and existing entrepreneurs – which will assist policy makers and training institutions to further develop appropriate courses to meet the “skill deficits” identified by individuals.
Dr Paul Quantock

Dr Paul Quantock is the Chairman of The Foundation for Entrepreneurial Participation (http://www.tfep.info), as well Chairman of The Foundation for European Initiatives (http://www.tfei.org.uk), Senior Partner at European Consultancy Services (http://www.euroconsult.co.uk), Director of EU15 Ltd (an outplacement and training firm – http://www.eu15.co.uk.) and Director of P4ACE (a communications research consultancy – http://www.p4ace.org).

He has been assisting organisations of all types throughout the world for 42 years. Helping them to build their capacity and also offer general help and advice on EU matters (including securing grants).

In 2006 he, together with influential Indian figures from Government and NGOs circles, created the “India Healthcare Training Think-Tank” to advise on the future training needs for India in the healthcare sector. Dr Quantock was the Joint Chairman.

In 2013, with assistance from the UK Government, he created The Foundation for Entrepreneurial Participation (http://www.tfep.info).

He has been recognized by the Governor and Secretary of State for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, USA for his International work and was awarded their highest honour, that of Kentucky Colonel and has also been appointed by the European Commission as one of their European Project Evaluation Experts in the field of vocational training.